

TEACHER EXCELLENCE

Bryan woman wins national prize

Romona Maxim of Bryan was awarded a national Teacher Excellence Award at the American Driver Traffic Safety Education Association Conference in Fort Worth this summer.

Maxim is a supervising instructor at the Region VI Educational Service Center in Huntsville.

She supervises and teaches driver education at A&M Consolidated, Caldwell and Rockdale high schools.

She also teaches alternative certification classes for driver-education instructors and bus-driving certification classes.

She is a board member of the Texas Driver Traffic Safety Education Association and serves as a board member.

Maxim has taught driver education for 22 years and is married to Joseph Emory Maxim, who is manager of quality assurance for the National Center for Electron Beam

Research at Texas A&M University.

The award was sponsored by the American Automobile Association.